AEC Reports High Output Of A-Bomb Explosives; Poison Weapon Studied

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today that since January it has produced a record amount of the explosive which goes into A-bombs.

It also disclosed that it is studying the possibility of making an atomic poison weapon.

In a semi-annual report to Congress, the atomic agency told of a stepped-up program during the first six months of this year, involving "all forms" of atomic weapons, including the hydrogen bomb.

And it hinted that this may have resulted in greater production of atomic bombs by saying that during the six month period "the rate of current operations" on the entire atomic project had "accelerated."

In the same period, the commission said, production of uranium-235 and plutonium—the explosive ingredients used in making atomic bombs—hit "the highest rate in the history of the project."

The same materials also are used in experimenting with atomic power for industrial plants and ships.

The commission carefully refrained from saying outright what its rate of A-bomb production was during the six months.

"Atomic weapons and fissionable materials," it said, "were produced at the rate authorized by the President for the calendar year 1950."

It didn't give the rate Mr. Truman authorized.

The agency reported a possibility of increasing its supply of precious uranium ores from both foreign and domestic sources.

It made no statement as to progress on the hydrogen bomb.

But it said the atomic program in general had been "recast to implement the President's directive" of last January ordering work continued on "all forms" of weapons, including the H-bomb.

"Decisions were made and plans formed for constructing the new facilities necessary to implement that directive fully," the report stated, adding that these facilities would be "substantial."

As to the third possible atomic weapon — radioactive poisons — the report said only that "studies on the feasibility of radiological substances as a method of warfare were continued."

Radiological substances send out rays which could contaminate a target area with dangerous radio activity, forcing the surviving inhabitants to flee.

SOME OF THE 500 PLANES that the U. S. Navy has ordered re-activated immediately are shown at the Litchfield Park Naval Base, near Phoenix, Ariz. The "moth ball" fleet pictured here consists mainly of PB4Y2 "Privateers," most of which have been parked at the field since the end of World War II.

SPRUCING UP A NAVY FE "Conquistador," crewmen at the Litchfield Park Naval Base, near Phoenix, Ariz., use hoses to wash down the plane after it has been "demoted." The hundreds of ships being re-activated consist of all types of fighters and bomber craft.

65 More County Men To Receive Physicals

Orders have been received by the Columbiana County Selective Service board to send 65 more men for their first physical examinations during August, bringing the total of county men called to 143 for the month.

No date has been set for induction of those who pass the physical, J. Homer Browne, board chairman, said.

Tuesday, the first 30 men from the county will be taken by bus to Canton for physicals. Forty-eight more will go Aug. 16.

Browne emphasized that men called must report for physicals or be subject to arrest.

Truman Asks 4 Billion For Friendly Nations

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—President Truman told congressional leaders today he is sending up a message asking $4,000,000,000 additional for military aid to anti-Communist nations.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the house appropriations committee said there was "unanimous agreement" among Democratic and Republican leaders to expedite action on the request.

Cannon said the estimates for the additional $4,000,000,000 will be submitted through a letter to Speaker Rayburn and referred directly to the house appropriations committee which will take them up immediately.

He said the President said there is "an emergency" which requires immediate action to arm American allies.

Two Nabbed In U. S. Spy Search

Engineer And Blonde Are Latest Suspects

NEW YORK, July 31—(AP)—The government's atom spy search focused today on the two latest suspects, a chemical engineer and his tall, blonde woman associate, as more arrests in the near future were hinted.

The engineer, Abraham Brothman, 36, and attractive Miriam Moskowitz, 34, were scheduled for arraignment today on federal conspiracy charges linking them with an atom spy ring for Russia.

Arrested Saturday, they brought to six the number of Americans seized so far as alleged accessories in the espionage ring in which British atomic scientist Klaus Fuchs was a key figure.

Official indications were that more arrests may follow.

"We are working on some matters" and this comes in the midst of them," said U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol. "We always have a grand jury sitting and we are starting to piece things together."

Also slated for a court hearing today was Julius Rosenberg, 32, a New York engineer accused of transmitting and arranging for others to transmit atomic secrets to Soviet agents. He was arrested July 17.

Brothman and Miss Moskowitz, a former employee of the War Manpower Commission, were indicted on the basis of grand jury testimony by Harry Gold of Philadelphia admitted go-between for Fuchs and Soviet agents.

The pair was accused specifically of getting together with Gold and framing a false story for him to tell a 1947 federal grand jury.

White House Studies Home Front Controls

Consider Rationing, Wage, Price Rules As Standby Action

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—Senator Maybank (D-SC) said today the White House staff is studying the question of a broader home front mobilization bill to include standby power to invoke wage-price rationing controls.

Maybank is chairman of the Senate banking committee which handles control legislation. He said the White House study is being made at his request. He added that no decision had been reached after a series of conferences over the weekend.

Maybank said he had not talked to President Truman himself about the matter.

Mr. Truman has said there is no need at this time for a more drastic home front mobilization than the steps he proposed in his message to Congress July 19.

The bill Mr. Truman submitted then does not call for wage-price controls or for rationing.

Since that time there has been a growing clamor among the lawmakers for broader and more stringent curbs on the civilian economy.

Democratic leaders in Congress want, however, to get at least a go-ahead nod from the President before broadening the administration's bill.

One high government official reportedly already has suggested to Mr. Truman that he consider asking for a general "freeze" of prices and perhaps a rollback to levels which prevailed before the Korean fighting.

Mr. Truman has said controls of that kind, including rationing and wage curbs, are not needed at this time. He has held that the less sweeping program he outlined to Congress July 19 will do the job—for now anyway.

However, over the weekend a mounting tide of disagreement with the President—touched off last Wednesday by elder statesman Bernard Baruch—continued to roll.

Russians Aid In Korean War

Prisoners Say Soviet Officers Are In Field

By DON WHITEHEAD WITH THE U. S. EIGHTH ARMY IN KOREA, July 31—(AP)—There is mounting evidence that Russian officers are in the field giving tactical advice to the North Korean Reds.

This has been suspected by military men since the war started. The tactical skill of the infantry, the expert use of artillery and mortar weapons and the conduct of the entire Red offensive has had the stamp of expert direction.

What evidence the army has of Russian military advisers comes from North Korean prisoners.

Capt. Walter C. Clarke of Ft. Worth, Tex., is the chief of an American team that questions prisoners of war.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Russians are advising the North Koreans on their tactics against the American troops," Clarke said. "Prisoner after prisoner has told us of seeing Russians. Our information is that there are four or five Russians with each division—ranging in rank from captains to lieutenant colonels."

Clarke and his men have questioned scores of prisoners. Among them have been an air force major and several lieutenants who command companies or smaller groups of infantry. Clarke said there had been no other prisoners of higher rank.

"There's not much doubt of the accuracy," he said. "A good many prisoners have told us that they observed Russian officers with various Red units."

Clarke named the Korea First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth infantry divisions as the cream of the Red army.

"They are the veterans who have had one or two years of combat experience in Manchuria," he said. "They are well trained and well equipped."

$50,000 Fire Hits Church Camp Grounds

EAST LIVERPOOL, July 31—Plans for the 113th annual camp-meeting at Hollow Rock went ahead virtually unchanged today despite a $50,000 fire Sunday that destroyed a three-story frame dormitory and dining hall.

Henry J. Cox of East Liverpool, president and missionary superintendent, said bulldozers will clear away the mass of debris today so that two huge tents can be erected on the spot before the series of daily meetings opens Thursday.

Roaring flames completely consumed the 60-by-110-foot building, but the Wellsville and Richmond volunteer fire departments kept the fire from spreading to three other nearby frame structures that are part of the "summer city" of 20,000 worshippers. The loss is uninsured. There are 100 other cottages on the 20-acre grounds, located 12 miles southwest of East Liverpool in Jefferson county.

Plans already have been started to replace the burned building with a modern two-story dining hall and dormitory. Mr. Cox said. Work probably will start after this year's meeting closes Aug. 13 so that the building will be ready for the 1951 meeting.

Socialists Ask King Abdicate

Leopold Silent As Belgian Crisis Mounts

BRUSSELS, July 31—(AP)—Socialist Chief Max Buset returned from a call on King Leopold today and told reporters "no decision has been taken" on Socialist demands that the king abdicate.

Almost at the same time Premier Jean Duvieusart declared he hoped for a solution of the crisis which threatens to plunge this nation into civil war.

Before the conference Buset had hinted strongly that the hour of Leopold's abdication might be close at hand.

The grim-faced opposition party president called on the harassed monarch for the first time today in his guarded palace in suburban Laeken. Before going he reminded reporters that previously he had said he would visit Leopold only in connection with his abdication.

Socialist leader Paul-Henri Spaak told reporters he thought Buset would get what he wanted—Leopold's abdication. But, he implied, it might take time.

If that happened, Spaak said, it might be too late to avert a recurrence of last night's bloody riot in which three people were killed at Liege.

The spokesman indicated that by "solution" he meant either abdication or the delegation of the king's powers to his son and heir, 19-year-old Prince Baudouin.

Tension which has been rising since Leopold's return from exile nine days ago reached a peak last night with the killing of three anti-Leopoldists by police who fired on demonstrators at historic Liege.

Yanks Pushed Closer Pusan

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 1—(AP)—Troops of the U. S. Second Infantry division under Maj. Gen. Laurence B. Kasser landed with tanks in Korea Monday and sped forward to help troops shunting Allied lines.

General MacArthur's headquarters said the North Korean Reds in force were shifting their pressure from the central sector to the west and southwest.

The Communists captured Chinju, 55 miles west of Pusan, vital U. S. base. Associated Press Correspondent Hal Boyle reported from outside Chinju that the Americans withdrew from the coastal anchor to new positions less than 30 miles from Pusan.

Arriving direct from the United States, many of the new troops headed out in trucks to plug holes punched by North Korean Reds along a rectangular front before Pusan, on the southeast coast. Up to 200,000 men were reported in the big Red surge against the shrinking defense area.

In the central front new pressure was put on Kamechon. But a U. S. First Cavalry spokesman there said the city "will be held at all costs."

He said the troops had been forced back slightly to the east, however. Kamechon is 22 miles northwest of Taegu, rail city northwest of Pusan.

As the decisive battle raged, Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his top advisers, flew to Formosa to talk with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, Nationalist Chinese leader. Chiang has offered 35,000 foot soldiers and some air force units to MacArthur, United Nations commander.

His visit followed a Chinese Nationalist air raid on 300 Red China junks assembling for a possible blow at Quemoy, Nationalist island near Amoy.

There was no indication this raid had American sanction. President Truman had asked Chiang five weeks ago to hold his island forces off from attacks on Chinese Reds unless the Nationalists themselves were attacked.

MacArthur met a official reception in Formosa. The Korean fighting now is spread over a rough rectangle. It extends 80 miles up the east coast from Pusan to Yangdok, thence west 75 miles to Hamchang, 330 miles due south from Hamchang to the vicinity of China.

Communist losses high. Spread thinly through the mountains and valleys are three U. S. Divisions—the First Cavalry and the 24th and 25th Infantry divisions. The U. S. 38th air force and fighting South Koreans.

Dispatches from the front and many Communist dead were strewn on the battlefield. Their own trucks moved over the hills, trying to reach new positions against the Americans.

At least two Red divisions and the powerful flanking movement around Chinju. Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the U. S. 8th army in Korea, ordered his men two days ago to fight or die in their present positions.

The strength of the moving American forces was not disclosed. Nor was it revealed exactly where they landed.

They are joining three U. S. divisions from Japan, some troops already in from Okinawa and the South Koreans who are fighting alongside the Americans.

The surely needed reinforcements from the U. S. came as advancing Red troops hurried there.

Each apartment has a living-and bath. The living rooms are in the front, rejuvenated section of the building. Most of that workmen started with the frame.

Each apartment is now 14 by 48 feet. A new roof, siding, hardwood flooring and brush-coat plaster were used for new and old sections.

The basement will have coin-dryer. A gas-fired hotwater heating system will be installed in the basement. It will have individual apartment controls.

A water softening plant also is to be installed. Mullins kitchens will be used in all four units.

Workmen are now doing the last of the interior trim while painters are busy on both inside and exterior.

The Kintz Construction Co.
holds the general contract. Other contractors are Firestone Electric, Stratton Plumbing & Heating, S. C. Service, glaziers, and Gordon Bros., who are installing the water softener.

The apartment building program will cost approximately $25,000, according to Dr. Roose.

Curbs On Loans To Cut Building

20 Percent Decrease Expected During Year

Economists estimate that President Truman's order curbing mortgage loans will cut home building by at least 20 percent during the next 12 months.

With current output placed at 1,500,000 a year, the reduction probably will amount to no less than 300,000 new apartments and houses over the period.

A worsening of the international situation will deepen the cut proportionately and a world war would shut down home construction for the duration.

The 20 per cent slash is forecast unofficially by some government experts. The industry is much more pessimistic. The National Association of Home Builders is looking for a 40 percent drop in home output.

In order to obtain an accurate picture of the situation, the Federal Housing Administration is spot checking its field offices for reaction to credit restrictions in local areas.

Slum clearance program officials report they will leave unchanged for the present their billion dollar program although the Public Housing Administration has curbed its 1950 building schedule.

No actual construction is planned under the slum clearance program until July, 1951. Officials say they will continue to advance preliminary loans to communities to plan slum clearance projects.

The Federal Reserve Board, supporting arguments for mortgage credit controls, reports that total home loans during the first six months of this year amounted to about six billion, 500 million dollars.

This brings the total amount of outstanding home debt to about 40 billion dollars, more than double the level at the end of the war.

Cleanup Speeds Construction Job

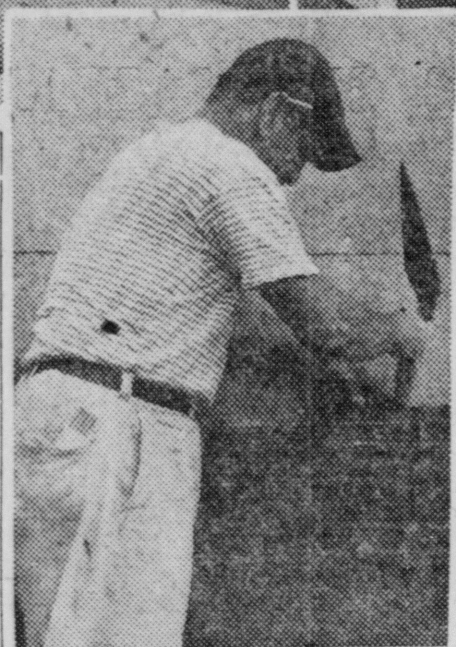

(Fourth in a Series)

KEEPING construction moving at a rapid pace is one of the biggest headaches of home builders today. This problem also hits the amateur builder or contractor.

It's important to keep the building site from getting cluttered to the point of setting up an obstacle course around the house. Before work is begun on siding or exterior brick work, it is a good idea to fill the excavation near the exterior of the basement walls. This will eliminate building of unnecessary scaffolding and will make work go quicker on the exterior of the house.

IF THE excavation is filled with a bulldozer, care should be taken to keep the machine from running too close to the foundation wall. Where possible, earth should be pushed toward the house and not along the side of the foundation. There is a chance that the basement wall will be damaged by running a heavy bulldozer too close to the house. After work is completed on the roof and the excavation has been filled, siding or exterior masonry can be started. While work is being finished on the exterior, the plumber, electrician and heating contractor can be working on the interior.

AT THE present time, home builders are using some siding materials not too common to building a few years back. Plywood, which has come into wider use for siding since the war, saves time and construction costs. Like THESE scenes of construction on a home under construction show methods used by professional homebuilders.

UPPER LEFT: Roofing is almost completed allowing construction to start on siding or exterior masonry and inside work by the plumber, electrician and heating contractor.

UPPER RIGHT: A bulldozer was used to fill the foundation excavation to make construction on the exterior easier.

LOWER CENTER: Brick-mason begins exterior brick work. For good waterproof masonry all joints should be well filled with mortar.

When all-masonry walls are used for house construction, research organizations suggest the cavity-type wall. These walls are made up of a 4-inch layer of brick, a 2-inch air space and a 4-inch inner wall of concrete block.

THE CAVITY-WALL is warmer and dryer than the solid 8-inch masonry wall. Although in some areas plaster can be applied directly to the concrete block builders generally advise an additional air space between the lath and concrete block.

When laying exterior masonry walls either the cavity-type or veneer which is being used in this home, extreme care should be taken against leaky walls.

Mortar in the bed joint should be spread thick and the furrow should be made shallow. This will give enough excess mortar in the bed joint to fill the furrow when the brick are bedded.

CARE ALSO should be taken not to spread mortar over too many bricks. Spreading mortar for the bed joint over a few bricks at a time will leave it soft and plastic allowing it to stick to the brick on top as well as the bottom. The head or vertical joints also should be well filled and once a brick is placed it should not be moved.

With wood siding builders strongly advise painting very quickly after the siding has been put on if not before. This prevents possible moisture from getting into the wood and causing paint and siding failures.

wood siding, it should be nailed to the studs and not through the sheathing. Authorities advise the use of metal corners with wood siding and suggest working with long wide pieces.

It takes as long to fit short narrow pieces of siding as it does long wide pieces.

House Committees To Speed Rearmament

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—The house armed services committee today announced creation of nine "expediting subcommittees" to speed up the multi-billion dollar rearmament program.

"We are going to see that no bottlenecks develop," said Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.). "We are going to keep right on their necks."

The function of the four-man subcommittees will be to keep congress "fully advised of the progress of the expanded national defense program."

Toward this end, the subcommittees will call in top military brass also will visit factories, camps and bases to see for themselves what is being accomplished.

Care Of Yard Accents House

Well-groomed Lawn Is Termed Essential

WOMEN interested in home decorating should extend their efforts to the yard which forms a setting for the house.

So say lawn specialists who have devoted much time to developing new wrinkles in the care and feeding of grass.

"There is nothing that adds as much to the beauty of a home as a green, velvety lawn" says O. M. Scott of Ridgefield, N. J. "And the woman of the house, if she is truly interested in beautifying her home, should spend as much time outdoors as in."

With the availability of new light-weight power mowers and advanced methods in planting and care of lawns, the task of keeping the lawn in trim can easily be assumed by Mrs. Householder, says Mr. Scott, instead of leaving it to the hurried ministrations of the man of the family.

This expert in grass carpets says that the mistake most people make when trying to develop a beautiful lawn is in too little fertilizing. A lawn needs regular treatments of food, he says, just as does any growing thing. Applications of fertilizer should be made regularly twice a year, at least, in March and September. Mr. Scott advises a mixture of organic and chemical lawn food, for best results.

Homebuilders can save time, labor and money, he says, if they give early consideration to such matters as saving of topsoil, utilizing the natural grade of their land to best advantage and planning the lawn to be done at the best time of year.

In most localities, he says, the best time for planting is late summer or early fall, when the soil is still warm but shorter days and cooler nights are in prospect. A spring planting also will produce a good lawn, but it takes more attention than one sown in autumn.

No matter how good the soil may be, it is important to apply a good grass seed just before planting, says Mr. Smith. This plus good seed will cost from $5 to $6 per 1000 square feet (50 by 20 feet). It is important, also, that the initial planting be of the best possible grass seed.

The householder who buys a cheap grass seed may find weeds and coarse annual grasses in his lawn, requiring endless time and effort to eradicate.

Frequent mowing is the next most important step. Lawns should not be mowed too short, but should be cut frequently during the growing season.

Canton City Workers Called Back To Work

CANTON, July 31—(AP)—The last of the city's 212 striking employees were called back to work today.

Employed in the garbage, street, water and paint departments, the workers Saturday accepted a 10-cent hourly wage hike and six annual paid holidays.

The raise also will go to other city departments and officials estimated it will cost $161,000 annually.

Members of the garbage department went back to work yesterday as there had been no collections since the walkout began last Tuesday. The other workers were ordered back today.

302 Tanks Destroyed By 5th Air Force

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, July 31—(AP)—The American 5th Air Force claimed today it had destroyed 302 North Korean tanks and damaged 240 others since the start of the war on June 25.

Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partidge, 5th air force commanding general in Korea, said the American air force had blown 4,388 sorties (single plane flights) in the past five weeks.

General Partidge and his men had destroyed 44 enemy aircraft, had two "probables" and had damaged 11 other planes.

(One of General MacArthur's intelligence officers told a briefing session in Tokyo today that a careful check showed 204 tanks destroyed. Of them, he said, the air force had knocked out 131 and the ground forces 80.)

General Partidge and American plane losses were 43 aircraft.

On The Other Hand—

WHEN everyone is jumping to the same conclusion from the same jumping-off place, it is a good idea to take a second look at the jumping-off place.

It has been or is being concluded that the United States is embroiled in Korea because it did everything wrong. This tempted the shrewd Communists, who never make any mistakes—according to the conclusion-jumpers—and the Communies took ruthless advantage of poor, bungling Uncle Sam. Furthermore, they will keep on pushing the bungling old geezer from pillar to post until he is frantic with frustration and will fall back on his A-bomb to redress his grievances. This will really start trouble because the Communies have an A-bomb, too. In other words, the Communies have the initiative and are going to make the United States and its allies, if any, eat dirt.

This may not be exactly the conclusion that each reader has jumped to, but it probably is close enough to serve the purpose of making a comparison with another kind of reasoning that goes like this:

The United States calculated that the greatest postwar danger facing the Kremlin was going to be its own ambition. Therefore, it should be tempted to over-extend itself. It should be lured into worldwide dispersion of its resources. It should be goaded into more military commitments than it could fulfill.

The United States calculated that the Soviet Union which was not ready to support a major war, could be made to drain off its industrial potential by doing nothing to interfere with its natural tendency to grab weak nations. Therefore, everything was made easy for the power-grabbers in the Kremlin.

Meanwhile, it was arranged to have a military showdown with them in Korea, where the opportunity existed to let them tip their hand by invading a country created by the United Nations and defensible by virtue of the presence of U.S. troops in Japan. The power-grabbers fell into the trap. Whether or not the trap is strong enough to hold them is still in doubt, but they can take no comfort in that.

They now have touched off the military mobilization of the United States and the crystallization of anti-Communist opinion among the United Nations. They have stumbled into the one thing they feared most—a direct clash with the highly industrialized United States. They have overmatched themselves by getting into a fight before they were ready. Their diplomats, militarists and politicians are all nursing black eyes and awaiting the eventual disaster in Korea which will cause hundreds of millions of Asiatics to titter at Russia's expense.

This is not necessarily true. But it is a reminder to Americans who believe their country always gets played for a sucker that it all depends on the point of view. The unhappiest man on earth at this moment may be an old-time revolutionist named Stalin. He may have fallen into the classic trap set for revolutionaries—an abortive grab for power.

Calling The Police

A DEEP-DISH thinker was holding forth on one aspect of the war which hasn't occurred to most of us yet.

"I wonder," he mused, "how we Americans will like the policeman role in world affairs. I wonder if we will be as good at it as the Romans and the Britons were. Most of all I wonder if we will learn how to grow thick skins."

"What did he mean—"grow thick skins?" "I mean," he explained, "that being a policeman isn't like being the favorite in an international popularity contest. Policemen are respected if they know their jobs, but they are seldom liked. They can't afford to get clubby with anyone because they may be called in to settle an argument the day after tomorrow. It's a hard life."

Americans might learn to enjoy it if it kept the peace.

The deep-dish thinker smiled at the thought of peace. "It would be wonderful," he sighed, "but what is it? A policeman keeps the peace by being ready to fight. It won't seem very peaceful, I'm afraid. And that is why I wonder how we Americans will like the policeman role and if we will be any good at it—as good as the Romans and Britons in their time."

The new U.S. census figure, showing a 19,000,000 population increase in 10 years, is hailed with satisfaction by the con gentry, as the old sucker rate of one a minute is now virtually quadrupled.

The Russian claim to inventiveness rests on such gadgets as the 60-ton tank, whereas only Yankee ingenuity could dream up the fake manifold for the fake portholes on a jalopy's sides.

Transfer Of Guam

By PETER EDSON

War Halts Change To Civilian Control

WASHINGTON—KOREA'S war has brought to a new head the old boil of trouble over transfer of U. S. Naval government to civilians on Guam, the other Marianas Islands, American Samoa and the UN trust territory in the Marshall and Caroline Islands of the Pacific.

Transfer of government on Guam from Navy to Department of Interior was scheduled for July 1. An organic act for Guam, establishing civilian self-government, has passed the House and been reported favorably by Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. The bill is on the Senate's consent calendar and is scheduled for action soon. Appropriations of $1,250,000 to run the new civilian government on Guam have also been approved by the House and are pending before the Senate.

If the North Korean attack had been delayed a week or ten days, this transfer of government might have been made. Since last September, Gov. Carleton Skinner, a civilian, has been in Guam taking over from Naval government.

Some 400 to 500 Naval officers and enlisted personnel on Guam have gradually been replaced by civilians and released for other more active duty. Everything was all set for the big switchover. Promises made to the Guamanians 50 years ago, when they were liberated from Spanish rule, that the islands would be given local self-government under the Stars and Stripes, were about to be carried out. Navy had agreed to it—though somewhat reluctantly—and everything seemed sympathetic.

BUT IN JUNE, Defense Secretary Louis Johnson and Chief of Staff Gen. Omar Bradley visited Guam for a few days, during their quick trip to Japan and back. Secretary Johnson didn't have much time for Governor Skinner, except for a few minutes at the airport, before take-off. The Navy apparently saw to it that the two weren't seated together at official gatherings, although at that time Governor Skinner was responsible to secretary of the Navy, Francis P. Matthews, and not to Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman.

Nothing happened to change the schedule of transfer until after the North Koreans attacked on June 25. Then Secretary Johnson put up to the President a proposal to delay matters indefinitely.

Secretary Chapman demurred on an indefinite delay. They compromised on a 30-day postponement.

So the transfer may go through okay soon, unless either or both of two things happen. If the Senate unexpectedly balks on passage of the Guam organic act or appropriations for the civilian government, it will be no dice. Or if the Defense Department or the Navy asks for further delay and the President approves, again no dice. This latter possibility is the more likely.

Only reason given publicly for further delay of the governmental transfer is that it would avoid confusion in time of crisis. But the actual transfer of government has all been made during the past ten months. All that remains is the formality.

THERE IS an economy angle in making the transfer, too. Cost of Naval government on Guam has been over $3,000,000 a year. Governor Skinner made a hit with congressional appropriation committees when he came back to Washington and said the job could be done for $2,000,000. Congress showed its appreciation by cutting down that amount $750,000 further. Governor Skinner says he can meet the cut by increasing local revenues.

Also, Guam is 1500 miles from Manila, Tokyo and Formosa, so is in no immediate danger zone. Guam is still an important Naval and air base however. Navy's top man on Guam today is Rear Admiral Osborne B. Hardison, who recently relieved Rear Admiral Edward C. Ewen as commander of Marianas. Navy really controls Guam because no ship can touch there and no person can land without Navy clearance.

Transfer of government from Navy to civilian authorities on the other Marianas, American Samoa and the trust territory is now scheduled for July 1, 1951. Navy has never been very enthusiastic about this transfer of authority either, although it has all but abandoned its base on American Samoa.

Even if Naval government is replaced by civilian government on these Pacific islands, it would still be possible to impose military government or martial law by presidential order, in an emergency. That is what was done in Hawaii during the last war. But it didn't work very well, and as soon as possible, local government was given back to the people.

Clearing The Decks

By TRUMAN TWILL

THERE must be a few changes before a patriot can say he is ready for the next preview of Armageddon.

Dust-bound copies of "One World" should be moved to the top shelf where no one will see them until it is time to view them as items of interest to rare book collectors.

Might as well toss those travel folders about the delights of travel in Japan into the fireplace, on top of the accumulated literature about "peace in our time." That one sounds pretty sick . . . peace in our time.

Also give the toss to the recipe for that potion calling for a jigger of vodka. Only a fool will be caught guzzling vodka from now on. Only a fool ever was caught guzzling vodka.

Better ruffle through those insurance policies—the ones that were going to make everything tight and secure. Bearing in mind, of course, that the ones worth $5,000 if certain eventualities ensue will be worth something less than half that amount . . . and guess how much less in short order.

Review all long-term election bets; remember that war is just what the doctor ordered for a lot of potential lame ducks.

Take a second look at the proposition that in the United States a fellow with an opposite opinion is entitled to the same rights as you are entitled to, even though the opinion may call for cutting your throat; that one doesn't sound very bright any more, does it?

And better do something suitable about the brass-brained confusion that what the United States needed in the wake of World War II was a bust in the arm because otherwise it would sag into the slough of deflation; it's time now to give up the needle and start rushing the restoratives.

There need be no wonderment any more about what will become of ships in mothballs. They are going to be taken out of mothballs. People who made gross miscalculations about war are going into mothballs; some of them don't know it yet, but they will find out.

Another thing to be thrown over the side is high-voltage worry about what to do with surpluses, especially in the soft-goods line. From now on the soft-goods line will be neglected for hard-goods lines, such as munitions.

And all of us had better give the toss to an idea which died hard, the same being that to know Americans is to love them. No one loves an American for his own sake.

This is still a world in which there are no Marquis of Queensbury rules for cutting the other fellow's throat—a world which wouldn't be worth living in without Christian ethics, which is why they are worth defending. They instruct the devotees to turn "the other cheek," which Americans have done. They have taken it on both cheeks, the nose, the seat of the pants and the back of the neck. They have been gouged, kneed, spit on and slandered. They have given their pals, the Russians, shiploads of assistance without cost and received nothing in return but a spate of dirty words from the goons who seized the Russian government a generation ago and won't let go.

There's one to throw overboard, too, while clearing the decks—the notion that a goon is really a swell fellow if you string along with him until he learns to love you.

If At First You Don't Succeed—

Indonesia's Desire To Stay Neutral

By KENNETH LIKES

THE WORLD'S youngest republic—the United States of Indonesia—is trying for a second distinction. She would like to be the world's most neutral nation. According to the standards they have taken on the Korean war, all other Asian countries can be sorted roughly as either Russian or American sympathizers.

Indonesia has carefully avoided lining up on either side. Government officials sighed with relief that the six-month-old republic never became a member of the United Nations. If we had joined the U.N., they reasoned, we might have been forced to take sides on Korea.

Indonesia was led into her neutral position by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. On a state visit here in June he pleaded in a dozen speeches for a "third neutral force" as a balancing power in the growing struggle between Communists and non-Communists.

By strict neutrality, India and Indonesia might show the way toward peace, Nehru said. He advised the Indonesians to concentrate on their own internal problems and avoid mixing in outside conflicts. Indonesians heeded Nehru's words, and no opposition was heard when Premier Mohammed Hatta laid down a policy of tight isolationism in regard to Korea's war. The press and most political parties rallied behind the government standpoint. Even Communist leaders, usually critical of Hatta's policies, agreed that Indonesians must concentrate on "building a strong national front to safeguard the country's neutrality."

INDONESIAN LEADERS got a jolt when India suddenly abandoned her policy of rigid neutrality and supported U.N. military measures to halt the Communist invasion of South Korea. It was admitted here that India's move caught the U.S.I. by surprise and left her alone on her neutral pinnacle. But we still can afford to be aloof, one top official explained, because we are far from the centers of trouble. India had to act, he said, because the Chinese Communists are close on her flanks.

Indonesia's union partnership with the Dutch will not influence her toward the Allied side, U.S.I. officials have been quick to explain, pointing out that each party in the Netherlands-Indonesia union can determine its own foreign policy. It was carefully explained that Java's big naval base at Soerabaya must not be looked on as a base of operations in the Korean war simply because a Dutch destroyer departed from there in early July to join Allied forces off Korea. A government spokesman stressed that the Dutch warship left Indonesian waters as a friendly foreign vessel in strict accordance with international law and custom.

No foreign nation has discussed the use of military bases in Indonesia, according to a recent official announcement. The Indies' chief Allied bases in World War II were Biak and Hollandia in Western New Guinea. Future status of Western New Guinea was not settled last year at the time independence was granted to the rest of Indonesia. The area was left in Dutch hands, and Holland and Indonesia were to negotiate a settlement before the end of 1950.

As neither has given up claim to Western New Guinea, the next round of negotiations in Holland next August are almost certain to end in a deadlock. Then it is likely that the problem will be thrown to the U.N. for solution.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

IT'S HARD to tell whether this thing in Korea is "all aid short of war" or "all war short of aid."

But if it's still a "police action," the U. N. better advertise for more cops. Last I heard some precincts seem to have taken the phone off the hook.

You could tell the thing was serious the minute the State Department stopped sending ballet troupes to Europe. That was the top off that we had to be on our toes at home.

Cancellation of the last ballet tour released three more bombers for obsolescence.

But we've got some ultra-modern rockets, super-A bombs and about all we're short of is some thing to use in Korea.

Anyway it's nice to know that for the moment no draft of American women is planned. They will continue to enjoy the same non-combatant status as many Korean men, judging from the refugee pictures.

It's real thrilling to see those pictures of American fellows moving toward the front and Korean men moving away from it.

So They Say

Before we are through . . . there will be a Marshall Plan of the Far East and Middle East, and eventually there will be one of South America. —Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Airlines.

General Gay

By HAL BOYLE

When In Doubt Attack

IN KOREA THE pulling back of the American line in Korea this week under intense Communist pressure galled many a young United States soldier.

But it galled some more than the two-star commander of the First Cavalry Division, which took the heaviest blows.

Over the 36 years he has spent in army service and actions on four continents, Maj. Gen. Robert G. Gay never had to fight a defensive battle until a few days ago.

"And I don't like it at all," he said grimly.

Gay is an apostle of attack. He spent plugged some of the great offensives made by American arms in the second world war. As chief of staff for Gen. George Patton, Gay coordinated successful drives in North Africa and Sicily and the famous Third Army sweep across France and Germany.

MEMORIES of those days must have been much in the mind of this lean, balding, hard-bitten veteran as he meticulously plotted on a big command post map a slow and stubborn withdrawal of his division. It wasn't the fact that he faced between two and three enemy divisions on his front that worried him so much as the fact the American forces have been spread so thin that flank protection is difficult.

Gay, son of a Northport, Ill., farmer, still speaks with a dry mid-western twang.

"We have been heavily engaged," he said. "I know we have hurt them—and they've hurt us some. We have had a knockdown drag out fight and we are going on and fight it all the way out. So far the men have fought beautifully. They have fought like veterans."

Gay said he felt "the whole situation is summed up by refugees." Thousands cross the American lines daily and amidst this mass of terror-stricken humanity are armed North Korean guerrillas seeking to get through in order to disrupt United States positions from the rear. So far no way has been found to cope with this situation.

"The American soldier—thank God—doesn't want to kill people ruthlessly," said Gay soberly. "But we must find a means to hold these refugees in place. They are endangering our men's lives."

HUNTING BANDITS is nothing new to the general, although he never took part in a "police action" on this scale before.

"I once commanded a troop in the old Seventh Cavalry when we were chasing bandits along the Mexican border," he said. He was a lieutenant then and later served in France during the first world war.

Gay is known as one of the most methodical planners in the army. He makes daily tours of advanced frontline positions to check his operations. The other day when he found vehicles massing on the battlement road—making a perfect target for any enemy aircraft—he dismounted from his jeep and personally broke up the traffic jam.

He is anxious to open an offensive as soon as the American battle line has formed.

"Marshal Foch once made the statement that there comes a time in every battle when both commanders think they have lost—and he who attacks wins," said Gay. "I am going to attack."

He praised the performance of the new 33 super-bombers and said they are powerful enough to blow up a building.

"There is a report going around here that I promised the bandits a bottle of whiskey for each enemy tank they knock out," Gay said with a grin. "That isn't true. I promised them a bottle of champagne for each one."

"And I hope it costs me $100," (AP Newsfeatures)

Britain To Rearm Attlee Tells Public

CHEQUERS, Eng., July 31—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee called on Britons last night to tighten their belts once again while their country arms against Red aggression.

In a blunt-spoken radio chat from his official country residence here, Attlee warned his countrymen that this rearmament will mean sacrifices in their standard of living, which has just begun recovering from the ravages of World War II.

The prime minister, whose speech was carried to the commonwealth lands overseas, declared "the fire which has been started in distant Korea may burn down your house."

Attlee blasted communism as a "world wide conspiracy against the way of life of the free democracies," and accused Russia of talking peace while maintaining huge armed forces.

He called for vigilance against domestic sabotage and urged greater enlistments in the British armed forces and civil defense organizations.

THE STEEL PICTURE—U. S. steelmaking capacity approaches 100,000,000 tons a year, up eight per cent since the end of World War II, and greater than it ever was at the war's peak. Nevertheless, the war in Korea and threat of a bigger war forces demand for steel above the supply. This causes either bidding up of prices and a "gray market" or some sort of government allocations and controls on supply. The newschart above shows U. S. steel-making capacity and actual production from 1901 through the first half of 1950.

Government Given Steel Priority

CLEVELAND, July 31—(UP)—The government has already got the jump on steel consumers, Steel magazine said today.

The industry journal reported that intensified efforts of steel consumers to build up steel inventories before the government's emergency allocations due to the Korean crisis apply "are getting nowhere."

Steel said mills are jammed with orders and are turning away tonnage "left and right."

Mills are cautious about accepting orders until defense program plans are clarified, the magazine said.

Mary Lucile Shriver Married To Lowell William Herron

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH WAS FILLED with friends and relatives of Miss Mary Lucile Shriver and Lowell William Herron for their wedding Saturday at 3 in the sanctuary of the church.

The daughter of Mrs. Jacob Louis Shriver of E. Seventh st and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Herron of Maple st exchanged vows and rings in a ceremony performed by Rev. E. S. Scott.

Pre-nuptial organ music was played by Mrs. Ruth Berry as the guests were seated, included "Arioso in A," "Ave Maria," "Through the Years," "Adoration," "Liebestraume," "Andante Pastorale," "Intermezzo" and "Schubert's Serenade." Mrs. Berry also played for Mrs. Oliver Davis, soloist, who sang "Tell Me Why" and "Through the Years" just before the wedding marches foretold the approach of the bridal party.

Later, as the couple knelt in an candlelight altar setting of palms, ferns and white gladioli and asters, she sang "The Lord's Prayer." The aisle was outlined in greenery banded with white bows.

Herbert L. Shriver of Clyde, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage, and her sister, Mrs. Stephen Brooks Longley of Jersey City, N. J., was matron of honor.

Attire of Bride

The bride's gown, fashioned of white slipper satin, was styled with fitted bodice with an herloom lace insert at the neckline. The full skirt ended in a short circular train and the sleeves were long and pointed at the wrist.

The fingertip veil of silk illusion was gathered about the face with stephanotis in tiara effect. Her beautiful colonial bouquet was centered with a white orchid surrounded by white roses, sweetpeas and stephanotis.

Mrs. Longley wore a gown of shrimpl-colored taffeta. The neckline was outlined with net, and twin berths, wing-styled for cap sleeves, were attached to the snug bodice. The fullness of the skirt was gathered into a bustle at the back.

Her mitts were of the same material as her gown, and her fresh flower halo was of yellow roses. The colonial bouquet she carried was an unusual arrangement of yellow gladioli and roses.

Mrs. Frederick Rgh of Columbiana and Miss Naomi Shinn of Salem were bridesmaids. Their gowns in lime green taffeta were of the same fashion as Mrs. Longley's. The roses in their hair were pink and the gladioli and roses in their colonial bouquets also were pink.

Dr. Jess H. Davis, president of Clarkson College of Technology of Potsdam, N. Y., was best man, while Dr. Theodore S. Renzema and Prof. Alwyn L. Carty, Jr., both of Potsdam, served as ushers.

Mrs. Shriver wore a navy sheer costume for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were navy. Mrs. Herron chose an aqua frock with white accessories. Their distinctive corsages were of pink and yellow gladioli respectively.

250 Guests Attend

The bridal party stood in receiving line in the church parlor to welcome more than 250 guests who were present from Salem, Potsdam, Lisbon, Jersey City and East Liverpool.

The three-tiered wedding cake was the center of attraction at the beautifully appointed refreshment table. The bouquets of the bride's attendants were placed to the front and sides of the cake and a nosegay of red roses and white sweetpeas was used as topping.

Mrs. H. L. Shriver of Clyde, Mrs. Marie Fawcett and Miss Alice Stallsmith served and Miss Alice Crowell of Lisbon presided at the guest register.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Herron wore a summer suit of aqua with black accessories and her orchid corsage. After a honeymoon trip through the New England states into Canada and a cruise on the St. Lawrence River, the newlyweds will be at home at 22 Lawrence ave., Potsdam, N. Y., where the groom is professor of business administration and dean of faculty at Clarkson College of Technology.

Mr. Herron attended Kent State University, the University of Iowa and Ohio State University. Mrs. Herron attended Youngstown College and was employed by the Columbiana County Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission.

Mary Lucile Shriver Married To Lowell William Herron

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH WAS FILLED with friends and relatives of Miss Mary Lucile Shriver and Lowell William Herron for their wedding Saturday at 3 in the sanctuary of the church.

The daughter of Mrs. Jacob Louis Shriver of E. Seventh st and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Herron of Maple st exchanged vows and rings in a ceremony performed by Rev. E. S. Scott.

Pre-nuptial organ music was played by Mrs. Ruth Berry as the guests were seated, included "Arioso in A," "Ave Maria," "Through the Years," "Adoration," "Liebestraume," "Andante Pastorale," "Intermezzo" and "Schubert's Serenade." Mrs. Berry also played for Mrs. Oliver Davis, soloist, who sang "Tell Me Why" and "Through the Years" just before the wedding marches foretold the approach of the bride and groom.

Later, as the couple knelt in an candlelight altar setting of palms, ferns and white gladioli and asters, she sang "The Lord's Prayer." The aisle was outlined in greenery banded with white bows.

Herbert L. Shriver of Clyde, brother of the bride, gave her in marriage, and her sister, Mrs. Stephen Brooks Longley of Jersey City, N. J., was matron of honor.

Attire of Bride

The bride's gown, fashioned of white slipper satin, was styled with fitted bodice with an heirloom lace insert at the neckline. The full skirt ended in a short circular train and the sleeves were long and pointed at the wrist.

The fingertip veil of silk illusion was gathered about the face with stephanotis in tiara effect. Her beautiful colonial bouquet was centered with a white orchid surrounded by white roses, sweetpeas and stephanotis.

Mrs. Longley wore a gown of shrimp-colored taffeta. The neckline was outlined with net, and twin berths, wing-styled for cap sleeves, were attached to the snug bodice. The fullness of the skirt was gathered into a bustle at the back.

Her mitts were of the same material as her gown, and her fresh flower halo was of yellow roses. The colonial bouquet she carried was an unusual arrangement of yellow gladioli and roses.

Mrs. Frederick Rth of Columbiana and Miss Naomi Shinn of Salem were bridesmaids. Their gowns in lime green taffeta were of the same fashion as Mrs. Longley's. The roses in their hair were pink and the gladioli and roses in their colonial bouquets also were pink.

Dr. Jess H. Davis, president of Clarkson College of Technology of Potsdam, N. Y., was best man, while Dr. Theodore S. Renzema and Prof. Alwyn L. Carly, Jr., both of Potsdam, served as ushers.

Mrs. Shriver wore a navy sheer costume for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were navy. Mrs. Herron chose an aqua frock with white accessories. Their distinctive corsages were of pink and yellow gladioli respectively.

250 Guests Attend

The bridal party stood in receiving line in the church parlor to welcome more than 250 guests who were present from Salem, Potsdam, Lisbon, Jersey City and East Liverpool.

The three-tiered wedding cake was the center of attraction at the beautifully appointed refreshment table. The bouquets of the bride's attendants were placed to the front and sides of the cake and a nosegay of red roses and white sweetpeas was used as topping.

Mrs. H. L. Shriver of Clyde, Mrs. Marie Fawcett and Miss Alice Stallsmith served and Miss Alice Crowell of Lisbon presided at the guest register.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Herron wore a summer suit of aqua with black accessories and her orchid corsage. After a honeymoon trip through the New England states into Canada and a cruise on the St. Lawrence River, the newlyweds will be at home at 22 Lawrence ave., Potsdam, N. Y., where the groom is professor of business administration and dean of faculty at Clarkson College of Technology.

Mr. Herron attended Kent State University, the University of Iowa and Ohio State University. Mrs. Herron attended Youngstown College and was employed by the Columbiana County Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission.

The cooky and punch party followed an interesting talk by Rev. Harold L. Ogden who told of a recent sailing trip on Long Island Sound. The surprise was for Miss Mary Lou Vincent who received a gift from the group in anticipation of her marriage Sunday to Kenneth Jack Duncan of Bowling Green.

U. S. Now Has Six Unified Commands, Like MacArthur's, In Vital World Spots

GEN. HANDY: Unified Europe

ADM. FECHTELER: Atlantic.

Chaplain Godfathers Korean Child At Front

WITH THE 25TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN KOREA, July 31—(AP)—Enroute to the front, an Army chaplain, Lt. Col. Mitnell W. Phillips of Huntington, W. Va., stepped off the train at a small way station.

A Korean frantically asked help. His wife was in labor. Within 30 minutes the chaplain had assisted in the birth of a boy, modestly objected to bestowing his name on the infant and was back on the train chugging toward the front.

FIRE DAMAGES HOTEL ASHTABULA, July 31—Fire forced a dozen persons to leap to safety yesterday from the second floor of the old Harbor Hotel, a rooming house. No one was injured seriously. Firemen put the damage at $5,000.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Unified commands, with all the authority now wielded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, have been set up in six major areas around the world where U. S. forces are located.

Each commander has been alerted for possible Communist aggression. Each one has full power to command all air, army and naval units in his area to check such action.

Military experts claim this arrangement gives Uncle Sam an unprecedented state of global preparedness. The five commanders—in addition to MacArthur—who hold this unique authority constitute a brand new level of command in America's armed forces.

Never before has the power to defend U. S. security abroad been concentrated in the hands of so few men. They are responsible only to the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the President of the United States. The areas assigned to them do not have fixed boundaries. The JCS retains control over the change in specific land and sea areas to meet changing tactical situations.

Here are the men, their areas of command, and the forces they have:

Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner USAF, 57, former Marine, veteran of two World Wars and a combat flier with 24 missions, is the new boss of the Alaskan command. That vital area includes the lands of Alaska proper, the seas around and the important Aleutian Islands.

Strategists call this command the one most likely to suffer first attack in the event of all-out war with Russia. To defend it Kepner has a total of 12,000 men. Half are ground forces. The rest are in air units which include one strategic reconnaissance of 12 B-29s, one fighter group with 75 F-80s, an all-weather squadron of 12 planes and a troop carrier squadron of 12 C-54s. Also under his command are two small naval installations at Adak and Kodiak.

Lt. Gen. William H. H. Morris, Jr., USA, 60, a veteran of World War I and last war's battles of Salerno, Bastogne and the Rhine break-through, bosses the Caribbean command. It includes the West Indies, Cuba, Canal Zone and Puerto Rico. He has 14,000 ground troops scattered around the islands. In addition he has roughly 6,000 men about equally divided between air and naval units.

Lt. Gen. Thomas T. Handy, USA, 58, an artillery veteran of the first World War who served as assistant Chief of Staff during most of the last war, is boss of the unified European command.

GEN. MORRIS: Caribbean boss.

This includes forces in Germany, Austria, Trieste, and U. S. air units in England.

His ground forces include 100,000 troops, among which are 10,000 in Austria and 5,000 in Trieste. His air strength consists of two fighter groups of 75 planes each and two troop carrier groups of 36 heavy planes and the other of 48 medium-sized cargo planes. The exact size of the bomb groups stationed in England is a secret.

Adm. Wm. M. Fechteler, USN, 54, a hero of the Pacific fighting and a very able leader, heads the Atlantic command. His force includes about seven carriers, the battleship Missouri, three heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, 50 destroyers and 30 submarines.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, USN, 54, famed World War II veteran now runs everything in the Pacific which is not under the MacArthur Far East command. That includes Guam, Pearl Harbor and the mandated islands. Before the Korean incident his force included three large carriers; two escort carriers, four heavy cruisers, one light cruiser, destroyers and 31 submarines. The naval force given to Gen. MacArthur must be deducted. But the exact division is a secret. Radford also commands an undisclosed number of air units.

A Mediterranean command is not now one of the big six unified areas. But Adm. R. L. Connolly who is in command of all naval forces there is set up to take over direction of all U. S. force which might be needed if action should start in that sector of the world. He has approximately three carriers, two heavy cruisers, 43 destroyers and 16 submarines. His command would probably be extended to take in Greece and Turkey, if new trouble should break out there.

GEN. KEPNER: Alaskan chief.

ADM. RADFORD: Pacific seas.

If war should come to continental United States, a seventh unified command would automatically come into being under hard-bitten Air Force Lt. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, head of the Air Force Strategic Air Command. All army units would go under his command and he would be directly responsible for the protection of all U. S. civilians.

Expert Says Atomic Bomb Can Be Hidden

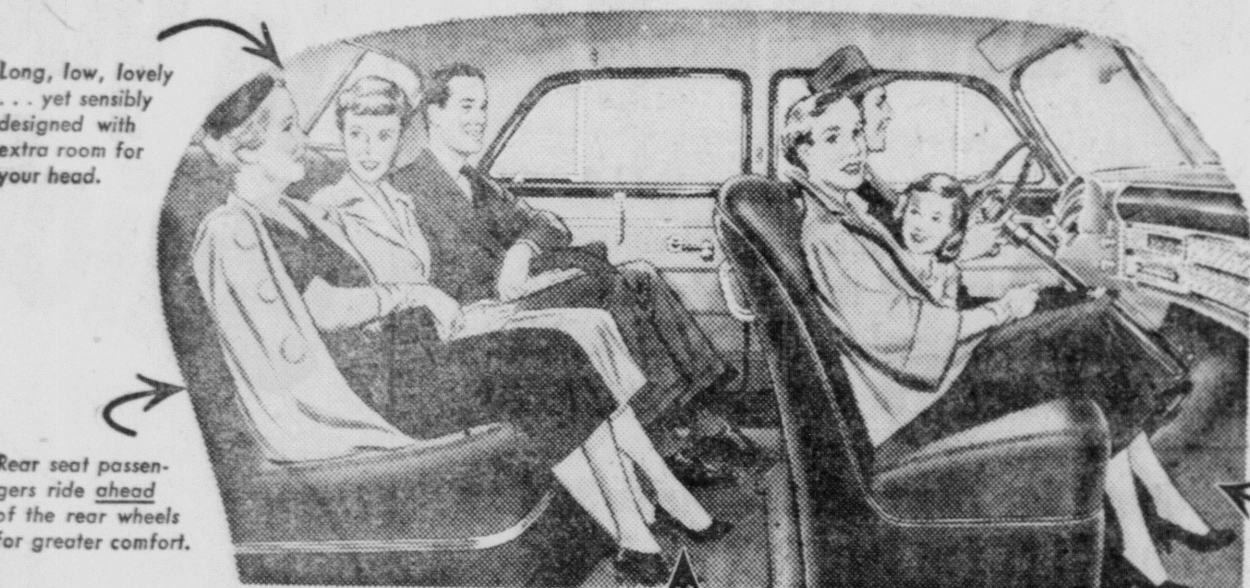

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—If an atomic bomb were smuggled into this country crated in the hold of an enemy ship it could not be detected except by opening the crate, an atomic scientist said today.

Dr. Karl Z. Morgan of the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory told a news conference he knew of no detection instrument that would disclose a bomb hidden in a crate. He and other scientists declined to comment on the detection possibilities in the case of a smuggled-in hydrogen bomb.

All Is Forgiven By Fred Merkle

Ex-Bonehead Hears New York Ovation

NEW YORK, July 31—(AP)—"I didn't want to come here," the heavy-set, grey-haired man sitting in the rear seat of the bus said. "Now I sort of hate to go back."

"It makes a man feel good," Fred Merkle continued, "to hear such cheers after all those years. I don't think I'll forget it. I expected so much worse."

Merkle sat far back in his seat as the bus carrying the 30-odd Giants and Cardinals of yesterday continued its trip downtown to a restaurant where they were to be feted by the Giants management.

Most of the former stars had just participated in a three-inning old-timers' contest for the benefit of 35,000 cheering fans at the Polo Grounds. Among them were such famous baseball names as Mel Ott, Carl Hubbell, Joe Medwick, Pepper Martin, Travis Jackson, Fred Lindstrom, Hughie Critz, Roper Collins, Bob O'Farrell, Tex Carleton and a host of others.

Merkle did not play. He and Larry Doyle, another of the famous Giants under John McGraw, had been invited as special guests. Neither put on a uniform as the 33 Giants renewed their rivalry with the famous "Gashouse Gang" of St. Louis.

"I spent close to 10 years in New York with the Giants," Merkle resumed. "They all were not happy ones. I thought I never wanted to get back. I guess I was wrong."

Merkle was reluctant to talk about it, but you could tell what he was thinking. He's never been allowed to forget that disastrous afternoon of Sept. 23, 1908, when the Giants lost a pennant because of an alleged blunder pulled by him.

AS A REFRESHER, it was Merkle who neglected to run from first to second on a ninth inning single by Al Bridwell that apparently scored Moose McCormick from third with the winning run against the Chicago Cubs.

The game was declared a 1-1 tie and ordered replayed. The Cubs won it and beat out the Giants for the flag by one game. New York fans blamed the loss on Merkle. Wherever he appeared after that he was called "Bonehead" Merkle.

The fact that neither McGraw nor the other players blamed Merkle did not alter the opinion of the fans. Even after he helped the Giants win pennants in the years 1911-12-13, they still referred to him as "Bonehead."

"The fact of the matter is," Merkle said ruefully, "what I did was common practice in those days. The same thing probably had been done a half dozen times during the season but nobody ever was called on it. The umpires decided to be technical just when I did it."

At the end of the 1927 season, he quit the game for good.

For 23 years Merkle exiled himself from big league baseball. Living in Florida, the now 61-year-old retired business man hadn't attended a big league game let alone come to New York.

But in that one moment at the Polo Grounds on July 30, 1950, when 35,000 people cheered wildly, all the bitterness of more than four decades was washed away. 1908 seemed far, far away now.

GROUSE SEASON SET

COLUMBUS, July 31—(AP)—Left-handed grouse season will run from Nov. 15 through Dec. 30 instead of ending on Nov. 30 as in previous seasons, the state wildlife division said yesterday. The division also announced that 1950 hunting and trapping rules and regulations have been approved officially.

GREELEY, Colo.—(AP)—Left-handed golfers don't often win tournaments where they are competing against orthodox swingers. In the Colorado high school tournament, however, both finalists were southpaws. Dick Billehus, 18, of Colorado Springs beat Randy Carey of Denver 1 up.

TAKING HIS FIRST WORKOUT since an operation on his arm injured in the All Star game, Ted Williams, of the Boston Red Sox, trots around Fenway Park's left field. Hoping to keep his uninjured arm and legs in condition, he did 15 minutes of running and 10 of setting up exercises.

Polo Club Defeats Mahoning Team 14-13

Improved team play and consistent goal shooting gave Salem riders a 14-13 edge over Mahoning Valley's team yesterday at the Salem field. As several of their green ponies begin to understand what is required of them in a polo game, the Salem team is showing strength which was not there earlier in the season. Salem has won four of its last five games from teams which outplayed them in the first games and have the punch to win in the last minutes of play.

Willy Smith was the big scoring gun for Salem, snagging one pass after another from his teammates to direct the willow ball thru the posts. Some of Smith's angle shots for goals were spectacular. He got six goals. Hal Everett of Salem played his best game of the season, covering the defense position and at the same time accounting for three goals for Salem. The Strouss boys of Mahoning displayed their usual clever team play, pushing Salem to a tie score as the game closed.

Salem has scheduled a game with the strong St. Louis team for August 13 at Salem. St. Louis will bring their own ponies for a tour of play with the teams of this area.

Legion Will Face Fort Laramie Team

COLUMBUS, July 31—(AP)—The Ohio American Legion junior baseball tournament opened here at 10:30 a. m. (DST) with defending champion Cincinnati Budde Post No. 507 meeting Franklin Post No. One of Columbus.

All games in the double elimination tournament are scheduled for Ohio State University diamonds. The tournament championship will be determined either Friday or Saturday.

Other morning pairings: Dayton No. 619 vs Portsmouth No. 23. Glouster No. 414 vs Zanesville No. 29. Akron No. 566 vs Galion No. 243.

2 p. m. Marion No. 162 vs Warren No. 278. Defiance No. 117 vs Cleveland No. 310. Fort Laramie No. 355 vs Salem No. 56.

Salem will play again Tuesday. If they defeat Fort Laramie, the next game will be against the Cleveland-Defiance winner. If Salem loses, Tuesday's game will be against the loser of the Dayton-Portsmouth tilt.

PLENTY OF KENNEDY

NEW YORK—(AP)—It's going to be mighty confusing for football opponents of the New York Yanks next fall when the coach says: "Get in there and watch that Bob Kennedy!" Coach Red Strader of the Gotham club has Washington State's Bob Kennedy, 1942 Pacific Coast rushing champion, and North Carolina's Bob Kennedy on his roster.

FILLIES VERY DISSIMILAR

NEW YORK—(AP)—Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt's two star fillies, Bed o' Roses and Next Move are as dissimilar as can be.

Next Move is big and cantankerous while Bed o' Roses is tiny and gentle.

Bed o' Roses, late in returning to competition this season, recently finished second to Next Move in the Gazelle Stakes.

The protein value of eight medium-sized eggs is equal to a pound of meat.

4 Baseball Fans Find Parking Zones Illegal

CLEVELAND, July 31—(AP)—Four out-of-town motorists told police last night they had been guided into no-parking zones and charged 50 cents to park.

The car owners, who came here for the Cleveland-Boston baseball doubleheader, said several men assured them it was all right to park in the areas and promised to watch their vehicles.

But when they came out of the ball game, police had towed the cars away and the men were gone.

After hearing their story, police let them off without paying the usual $3 parking violation fee and $2 towing charge.

Three Golfers Share Blind Bogey Tourney

Three golfers, Dick Dennis, Wink Miller and F. E. Henry, shared top honors in the blind bogey tournament, held at the Salem Golf club over the weekend. Each had a net 74 score.

Dennis shot 80-6-74, Miller fired 84-10-74 and Henry fired 98-24-74.

Second place winners, with net 80's were Dick Lawrence, V. C. Judge and Jim Hyink. Lawrence had low gross of 86.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Willie Boland, rider of Middleground, has a fair start on that ranch he hopes to purchase. During a recent six weeks stretch he rode winners of $227,725 in five stakes. Included were victories astride Middleground in the Derby and Belmont. A jockey usually gets 10 per cent of the purse in stake races.

U. S. Troops Scorch Villages In Defense

WITH U. S. FIRST CAVALRY IN KOREA, July 31—(AP)—First cavalry foot troopers put the torch to hundreds of thatched roof huts in front line areas today in a desperate move to halt Red Korean infiltrations.

Smoke spiralled high above the front. Haze hung over the valleys, hiding targets from low-flying U. S. observation planes.

The firing of South Korean villages was a scorched earth measure to destroy hiding places for guerrillas such as the commandos who raided a command post today.

It also struck at cover where North Koreans hid tanks.

The pre-dawn commando raiders killed one Korean and four American officers and wounded eight Americans. They poked Russian "grease guns" through blackout curtains on the windows of the schoolhouse command post and sprayed the interior.

WILL TALK TO ROTARY

Robert Conroy, Mullins Manufacturing Corp. staff assistant, will be the speaker at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon at the Memorial building. The title of his talk is, "This Is Our Problem." James Cross is program chairman.

Mrs. Nettie M. Hall, 71, wife of Charles W. Hall, died of complications at 6 p. m. Sunday in the Central Clinic. Death followed a lingering illness.

Born at New Waterford March 26, 1879, she was a daughter of Clinton and Albacina Peppel Burt. She came to this vicinity in 1937 and resided on the Damascus rd until a few months ago. Since that time she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Yaeger on Franklin st.

She was a member of the Wilbur Society of Friends and attended the Damascus meeting.

Besides her husband, Charles W. Hall, whom she married Nov. 10, 1897, at New Waterford, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Yaeger and Mrs. Clifford E. Stanley of 12th st; five grandchildren; three brothers, William C. and Sylvester T., both of Columbiana, and Elmer C. of San Diego, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Price H. Kintner of Youngstown and Mrs. Myrtle Garrett of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Funeral service will be held at 2 Wednesday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home. The custom of Friends service will be used. Burial will be made in the Damascus Cemetery.

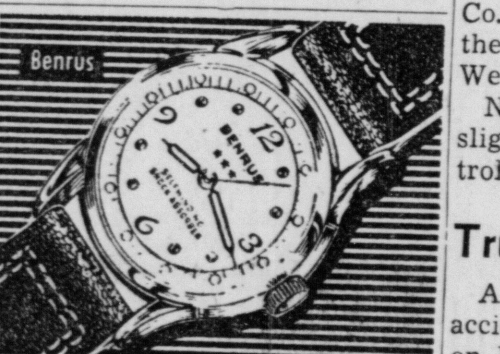

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday evening.

Accidents

ran into the rear of the car operated by Henry L. Strutzenberg, 28, of Philadelphia, which was stopped on the highway. A Burlington Transportation Co. bus, following the two cars, then ran into the rear of the Weber car.

No one was injured. There was slight damage to all vehicles, patrolmen said.

Truck Hits Pole

A truck was damaged in an accident at 7:35 p. m. Saturday on Route 224, 1½ miles west of Canfield.

Charles H. Chadwick, 44, of Indianapolis told patrolmen he swung his truck off the right side of the road when an unidentified car made a left turn in front of him. The truck struck a power pole.

Cars Sideswipe

No one was hurt when cars driven by Richard P. Dunn, 35, of East Palestine and William Guy, 21, of Negley sideswiped at 10:25 p. m. Sunday on the Negley-New Waterford rd. There were four people in Dunn's car and three in the Guy auto.

Investigate Accident

State patrolmen are investigating the two-car accident which occurred at 11:30 p. m. Sunday on Route 224, just east of Ellsworth.

Paul Gebhardt, 55, of Youngstown told patrolmen the car which he was driving and another car sideswiped. The second car, owned by Herman H. David of Cleveland, left the scene before patrolmen arrived.

Two Autos Collide

At 7:30 a. m. Sunday on Route 30, near Lisbon, cars operated by Lawrence F. Cosgrove, 54, of Lisbon and Manning E. Fowler, 34, of Cleveland were damaged in a collision.

Patrolmen reported Cosgrove, making a left turn in front of Fowler, failed to clear the highway before Fowler ran into the rear of his auto. The front of Fowler's car and the rear of Cosgrove's were damaged.

Girl Cyclist Hurt In Truck Collision

An 11-year-old bicyclist was injured slightly in one of four traffic accidents occurring in the city over the weekend.

Irene Snow, 11, suffered abrasions of the left arm when the bicycle she was riding was struck by a truck driven by Mathias Melitachka of 467 Sharp st at 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

Police said the truck, headed east on E. Pershing st, was passing two parked trucks when the bicyclist darted out onto the road behind the second truck. The bumper of Melitachka's vehicle hit the bike, knocking it over on the pavement.

A hit-skip accident was reported on Newgarden st at Arch st at 1:55 p. m. Sunday.

Mathias J. Kufutner, 37, of R. D. 2, Salem told police he was driving a truck which was towing his car south on Newgarden st. His wife was at the steering wheel of the auto.

At Arch st, an unidentified auto coming in the opposite direction struck the Kufutner car, damaging its left front. The auto stopped then drove away, police reported, leaving a Packard hub cap lying at the scene of the mishap.

Mr. Kufutner said the auto was a four door sedan.

The car driven by Richard A. Pasco of 315 W. Pershing st collided with the car operated by Arthur M. Wilhelm of 180 E. Third st near the intersection of Highland ave and Third st at 9:50 p. m. Sunday.

Police said the Pasco auto, turning onto Third st from Highland, skidded on the wet pavement into the left side of the parked Wilhelm car, causing damage to the left front and rear doors. The right front fender of the Pasco auto was damaged.

The car operated by Mrs. Dorothy McFetrick of R. D. 4, Salem, stopped at a traffic light on N.
